

General Information

HISTORICAL SKETCH OF THE UNIVERSITY

SOUTHEASTERN LOUISIANA UNIVERSITY is the outgrowth of the Hammond Junior College, which was established in 1925 by the citizens of the southern half of Tangipahoa Parish. The junior college was supported by a one-mill tax voted by the property owners of this section.

The first session began on September 14, 1925, with a president, four instructors, and forty students. Both freshmen and sophomore students were enrolled, and facilities of the Hammond High School were used. The main objectives of the junior college were to provide a two-year curriculum in teacher education and the basic undergraduate work in arts and sciences. The curricula were approved by the State Board of Education.

The student body grew to such an extent that the high school building could no longer accommodate the college classes. In 1928 an eighteen thousand dollar bond issue was voted, and fifteen acres of the present campus were purchased. A large residence on the property was used as a home for the president and a women's dormitory. A servants' house was remodeled to provide classrooms, laboratories, and a library. At this time the name of the institution was changed to Southeastern Louisiana College.

As the enrollment increased and students from a wider area enrolled, the Board requested financial assistance from the State of Louisiana. By legislative Act No. 136 of 1928 of the State Legislature, the institution was made part of the state educational system under the control of the State Board of Education. A local executive committee was appointed by the State Board. The same act of the legislature granted the College the right to establish four-year curricula and to grant baccalaureate degrees when the facilities of the College permitted and the State Board approved.

The work of the College continued mainly that of preparing teachers for the two-year state certificate and of offering basic undergraduate courses for students who wished to enter the professional schools in the universities of the state. In 1930 a third year was added to the curricula.

The purchase of sixty acres of land adjoining the campus increased its size to seventy-five acres. During the same year one hundred thousand dollars was provided by a bond issue for new buildings. A frame gymnasium and a brick and concrete administration building were erected. The administration building provided space for offices, classrooms, and a library. It was named Lucius McGehee Hall in memory of Dr. Lucius McGehee of Hammond, one of the founders of the College, and until his death a member of the local executive committee. All science work was centered in the original frame and stucco building, which had been enlarged several times.

In 1937 the State Board of Education authorized the President to submit curricula extending through four years and leading to the baccalaureate degrees. Four-year curricula in the liberal arts, teacher education, business administration, music, the social sciences, and health and physical education were submitted to the State Board and were formally approved. The first degrees were conferred in May 1939.

The Public Works Administration of the federal government in 1937 made a large grant to match funds contributed by the State Board of Education for the construction of a combination football stadium, men's dormitory, cafeteria, and student union.

An amendment (Act No. 388 of 1938) to Section 9, Article XII, of the Constitution of the State of Louisiana was acted upon favorably by the electorate in the general election of November 1938. This amendment established Southeastern Louisiana College by constitutional provision and granted it the same status as the other four-year institutions of higher education under the control of the State Board of Education.

During the years 1938-1940, Southeastern received more than one million dollars from a state colleges bond issue and the Works Progress Administration of the federal government for the construction of new buildings. In this program modern facilities were provided for all departments.

The State Board in 1940 approved four-year curricula in home economics and in 1945 a four-year curriculum in agriculture.

January 18, 1946, the State Board of Education made available $84,675 from emergency funds for the purchase of seven city blocks east and west of the campus fronting on Dakota Street and 275 acres of land adjoining the campus on the north and northwest, extending back to Highway 51. This increased the total area of the campus to approximately 365 acres. At the same meeting of the State Board, the reorganization of Southeastern into the Division of Liberal Arts, the Division of Education, and the Division of Applied Sciences was authorized.

March 3, 1946, Southeastern was formally approved and accepted into full membership in the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools as a four-year, degree-granting institution.

The Bureau of Community Facilities, upon recommendation of the United States Office of Education, in 1947 completed a building program of temporary structures on the campus, including a cafeteria, a health center, a laundry, a large number of classrooms, and a workshop.

The Federal Public Housing Authority erected on the campus forty apartments for married students.

The United States Government donated two steel barracks to Southeastern for men's housing. By legislative act and by resolution of the State Board of Education, Southeastern was authorized in 1960 to offer master's degrees, and a Division of Graduate Studies was organized. In 1964 a Division of Nursing was established. The Education Specialist degree was added in 1967.

On June 16, 1970, the Hon. John J. McKeithen, Governor of the State of Louisiana, signed a legislative act changing the name of the institution to Southeastern Louisiana University.

The State Board of Education approved, in July, 1969, the reorganization of Southeastern into the Colleges of Business, Education, Humanities, and Science and Technology, the School of Nursing, and the School of Graduate Studies. In 1988 the Colleges of Humanities and Science and Technology were combined into the College of Arts and Sciences.

The 1974 Constitution of the State of Louisiana created the Louisiana State Board of Regents with certain powers, duties, and responsibilities relative to all public institutions of higher education in the State of Louisiana. The 1974 Constitution also established three higher education management boards, placing Southeastern under the Board of Trustees for State Colleges and Universities.

Southeastern's enrollment hit an important milestone in the Fall of 1997 with the registration of its 15,000 student for the semester. Since Fall 1925 through Summer 1998, Southeastern has awarded over 40,000 degrees.

The following presidents have served the institution since its founding: L.A. Sims (1925-1933); Y.L. Fontenot (1933-1937); J. Leon Clark (1937-1944); George W. Bond (acting president, 1944-45); Gladney Jack Tinsley (1945-December 8, 1951); Luther H. Dyson (acting president, December 9, 1951-June 30, 1952); Clark L. Barrow (July 1, 1952-August 8, 1953). Luther H. Dyson, who had served as president since August 9, 1953, was granted leave for the 1967-1968 Session; and J.B. Wooley was appointed acting president on August 19, 1967. On January 15, 1968, Clea E. Parker became President and served until June 30, 1980. On July 1, 1980, J. Larry Crain became President and served until December 1, 1986, at which time he was appointed as System President by the University of Louisiana Board of Trustees. On December 1, 1986, G. Warren Smith became President and served until June 30, 1995. On July 1, 1995, Sally Clausen became President of Southeastern and served until June 30, 2001, at which time she was appointed as System President of the University of Louisiana System. On July 1, 2001, Dr. Micheal R. Moffett became President of Southeastern. On February 17, 2009, Dr. John L. Crain became President of Southeastern.

LINUS A. SIMS MEMORIAL LIBRARY

The University Library, named in memory of the institution's first president, is a modular four-story building of approximately 138,000 square feet. The building, occupied in 1986, is located near the center of campus.

The Library contains a collection of more than 437,000 print and electronic volumes and provides access to over 100,000 print and electronic journals and newspapers. Sims Memorial is a partial depository for both federal and state government publications. The Library participates in a state-wide network providing access to the online catalogs of 40 academic libraries within Louisiana and to other electronic databases and catalogs. Sims participates in the LALINC reciprocal borrowing program, which extends borrowing privileges to Southeastern faculty and graduate students at participating universities throughout the state, and in the LALINC Distance Education agreement which ensures library services to students enrolled in distance education classes.

Both traditional library services and state-of-the-art information technology, including electronic resources which may be searched remotely, are provided by Sims Library. Service to off-campus students is provided through the Library's Distance Learning Librarian. Formal and informal instruction in library research skills is provided by professional librarians. The Library, open 80 hours a week, seeks to provide a safe environment conducive to research and study while also providing a culturally-rich environment to enhance the Southeastern experience. Group and private study areas are available throughout the Library. Exhibits, lectures, readings, and presentations are regularly scheduled in open areas of the Library. The Library houses a computer lab, the Archives and Center for Southeast Louisiana Studies, a mathematics lab, a practice presentation studio and a coffee shop.

Sims Library also maintains a library to serve the faculty and students of the Baton Rouge Nursing Center and provides an on-site collection to support the research needs of the Turtle Cove Environmental Research Station.

TURTLE COVE ENVIRONMENTAL RESEARCH STATION

The Turtle Cove Environmental Research Station is a field research and education/outreach program of Southeastern Louisiana University, located on two sites at Galva Canal in Manchac and on Pass Manchac in the Lake Pontchartrain estuarine ecosystem's Manchac Wildlife Management Area (WMA). Turtle Cove consists of buildings and infrastructure, equipment and supplies, and a fleet of 12 boats of all sizes that are necessary to conduct activities in the Pontchartrain Basin. Along with these resources, Turtle Cove staff help support a variety of interdisciplinary programs at Southeastern—and other universities around the region, primary among them biology, but also including chemistry/physics, education, history, and the arts, among others. Turtle Cove's extensive education and outreach programs are widely renowned across the region. The main guest house (i.e., "Turtle Cove") on Pass Manchac was constructed in 1908 by Mr. Edward Schlieder, a businessman and outdoorsman in the logging industry from New Orleans. The estate was donated after his death to the State of Louisiana's Department of Wildlife and Fisheries (LDWF) with whom Southeastern now leases the land and facilities from since 1981 via a 99- year lease. The mission of Turtle Cove is to facilitate a better understanding of the local wetland environments of Southeast Louisiana through research, university education, marsh restoration, teacher training, and public outreach. For more information on the station and its programs and activities, or to make a donation, please visit our website, www.selu.edu/turtlecove, or contact the Manager at 985-549-5008.

THE SOUTHEASTERN CHANNEL

The University's official television channel, Channel 18, provides a valuable educational asset for the citizens of southeast Louisiana as well as for the students of Southeastern. The educational channel demonstrates Southeastern's commitment to education, its students, and to the entire southeast Louisiana region. The channel works hand-in-hand with the Department of Language and Communication to help advance student opportunities in the field of television production. The channel's main mission is to help lead the educational, economic and cultural development of our region.

OFFICE OF TECHNOLOGY

The Office of Technology, located mainly in McClimans Hall, includes three departments: Client Services, Client Mobility, and Client Connectivity. The Client Services group consists of the Customer Service Center, Desktop Support, Telephone/Data Support Center (data, phone and video), and Computer Equipment Resales. The Client Mobility group consists of the Enterprise Technology Solutions, Web Development Team, and Student Productivity Services. The Client Connectivity group consists of Systems Engineering and Operations. The mission of the Office of Technology is to provide direction to Southeastern Louisiana University in developing technological resources to support the University's mission, vision, and strategic goals.

The Office of Technology serves the University as an administrative and instructional facility, providing computer support for students, faculty and staff, and supports other technology services required by the University. The Office of Technology supports more than 150 IBM pSeries and xSeries servers and more than 50 terabytes of storage. These servers are used to host the University's PeopleSoft administrative applications, as well as other academic and administrative systems. A fiber optic backbone connects every building on campus and serves local and remote labs, classrooms, faculty, and staff offices. Fiber-optic lines to Baton Rouge, Livingston, and Mandeville provide Internet and network connectivity for users at those campuses. Through the use of compressed video, the University is also connected to any other campus in the state included in the Board of Regents Video Network. Two un-interruptible power supplies and a natural gas/propane generator allow the computer room to continue functioning in the event of a power failure. In the event of a disaster that incapacitates the data center, core administrative and academic applications can be moved quickly to back-up systems at our Business Continuity Center. University telephone services are provided through an Avaya S8730 PBX Switch, which is housed in McClimans Hall.

The above system supports a variety of software for programming (COBOL, C, BASIC, Pascal, FORTRAN, Ada), editing (EVE, EDT), database development (Oracle, PeopleSoft). Statistical packages available include SPSS and SAS.

The Southeastern network gives personnel access to supercomputers and other services via e-mail, Telnet, FTP, and WWW. One hundred and forty megabits of Internet bandwidth are available through LONI, the Louisiana Optical Network Initiative. Ten megabits of backup Internet bandwidth are available through AT&T.

All students, faculty and staff are automatically assigned a network account upon registration or employment. Information about the Office of Technology and education in the use of technology is provided through online information, short courses, and consultation with Client Services. The University utilizes an IBM Netfinity 5500 server running Linux and Apache for web server access. Web services include HTML, CGI, and multimedia streaming. Students are allowed to establish personal web pages under netstorage web services. Southeastern can be found on the web at www.selu.edu. The Office of Technology's web page is located at www.selu.edu/admin/technology. This voice system can be reached at 1-800-222-7358 or 985-549-5800.

High speed internet access is also available in all university housing facilities. A wireless network is available to all Southeastern students, faculty, and staff. Visitors and guests may also have access. To find out more about our wireless network and the growing number of hot spots around campus, visit <http://www.selu.edu/admin/technology/resources/wireless/index.html>.

Additional computing support is offered through local area networks and associated file servers. These networks make available word processing software and permit faculty and staff to send and receive electronic mail. Google Apps have also been made available.

There are more than forty separate computer labs on and off-campus for support of the students, faculty, and staff. The equipment in these labs range from multi-media super PCs, printers, scanners, to CD/DVD players. Open labs, with more than 70 seats available to all students and majors, are located in Fayard Hall. The lab in Fayard Hall is available 24 hours a day, five days a week. Complete schedules for all labs are maintained on the Student Productivity Services website accessed from the Southeastern Louisiana University Home Page. Student Productivity Services and Student Technology Services are responsible for staffing and maintenance of all computer labs operated under the student technology fee. Student Technology Assistants and Graduate Assistants are hired and trained to assist all students with academics and technology.

Southeastern now has three compressed video rooms on the main campus, two rooms at the Baton Rouge Center, and two rooms in St. Tammany. Four of the rooms are "Multi point" rooms, capable of conferencing multiple sites simultaneously. Instructors can originate from all sites on campus, and one site each in Baton Rouge and St. Tammany. We utilize Video over IP to deliver the classes. The equipment includes state of the art Polycom Codecs, and large monitors. The selection of sources includes multiple document cameras and PC video output. Southeastern employs the latest technology in more than 80 classrooms throughout the campus, enabling instructors to deliver content-rich multimedia lectures and presentations.

Laptops, tablets, projectors, digital cameras, and digital media packs are available for checkout by students. To find out how to check out this equipment, visit www.selu.edu/sps and click Equipment Checkout.

A Student Computer Help Desk provides phone support for Southeastern students in various aspects of technology including online course issues, Internet questions, Southeastern related information, student tech fee supported software applications, and e-mail account questions. The Student Computer Help Desk can be reached by calling 985-549-2700.

CENTER FOR FACULTY EXCELLENCE

The Center for Faculty Excellence at Southeastern Louisiana University was established to promote and facilitate an environment in which teaching and learning are the subject of serious discussions, debates, and inquiry among faculty, thereby producing a campus climate where both teaching and research are recognized as significant scholarly work. The mission of the Center is to assist faculty by providing opportunities for personal and professional growth, for innovation and experimentation, and for change and renewal. For more information about the Center and the services it offers to faculty: <http://www.selu.edu/admin/cfe/index.html>.

DISABILITY SERVICES

The Office of Disability Services works with students and other offices on campus concerning university-related accommodations. To receive accommodations, students with disabilities must self-identify by providing current documentation from an appropriately licensed professional on official stationary regarding the nature and extent of the disability and the recommended accommodation(s). Detailed self-identification, documentation, and accommodation request information is available from the Office of Disability Services. Documentation must address the specific diagnosis, tests used in making the diagnosis, and test scores, where appropriate.

Once all documentation has been received and approved, the Office of Disability Services will provide individual letters to instructors outlining the recommended accommodation(s). Faculty shall not grant accommodations based on disabilities without this letter.

It is the student's responsibility to identify their needs to the Office of Disability Services and request services and accommodations each semester. As many accommodations may require time and resources to arrange, students are encouraged to self-identify as soon as possible. Retroactive accommodations are not provided.

In addition to academic accommodations, special resources available to students with disabilities include wheelchair accessible computer stations and adaptive software and equipment, in addition to tutoring and counseling. Special facilities designed for students with disabilities include connecting walkways, elevators, ramps, handrails, lifts, drinking fountains, restroom modifications, and residential facilities.
