Policy Procedure

Special Entrance Rates

When a supervisor believes that a position or group of positions under his supervision should be considered for a special entrance rate, the supervisor will discuss the matter with their Human Resources Analyst. The Human Resources Analyst will review the turnover rates and applicant pool information for the job classification under consideration for the past 12 months to determine if there is a recruiting or retention problem and report back to the budget unit head. If the results of the research indicate there is a problem, then the budget unit head will submit the request to their respective Vice President for approval. If approved by the respective Vice President, the request will be submitted to the Vice President for Administration and Finance for budgetary approval. The Vice President for Administration and Finance will consult with the respective Vice President and the Provost before making a final decision. If the request is approved by the Vice President for Administration and Finance, then the special entrance rate request and supporting documentation will be prepared by the Human Resources Office under the signature of the Human Resources Director for submission to the Department of Civil Service.

The Human Resources Office, after consulting with the Vice President for Administration and Finance, will determine if any percentage difference adjustments are to be given to existing employees in the same job title.
