

College of Nursing and Health Sciences

Health and Human Sciences

SOUTHEASTERN LOUISIANA UNIVERSITY

Southeastern's Counseling Program Presents:

Best Practices, Ethics, and Interventions in Teleplay Therapy

Telemental health is a rapidly growing field spanning many mental health disciplines. The coronavirus pandemic propelled telemental health quickly into the offices of counselors and homes of clients. Play therapists experienced the same, and many had to quickly find flexibility and adapt their practices for clients that could no longer come to their offices. As such, much has been learned to make teleplay therapy practice viable and beneficial. This workshop seeks to convey best practice guidelines for telemental health and their application to teleplay therapy, applicable codes of ethics, practical resources, and appropriate interventions.

Wednesday, March 16, 2022 - 9:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m. via Zoom
(Zoom link will be sent upon registration confirmation)

Please use this link to register:

https://www2.southeastern.edu/external/event_registration/counseling/professional

About the presenter, Franc Hudspeth, PhD, LPC-S (MS & AR), NCC, ACS, RPT-S, RPh

Franc is Program Director and Associate Professor in the counseling program at Sacred Heart University in Fairfield, CT. He is Editor of the Journal of Counselor Preparation and Supervision and International Journal of Play Therapy as well as an editorial board member for the Journal of Creativity in Mental Health and The Professional Counselor. He serves as President of the Association for Creativity in Counseling and Treasurer of the Military and Government Counseling Association. He received his PhD, in Counselor & Supervision, from the University of Mississippi in 2009. He has been a Registered Pharmacist since 1989 and a Licensed Professional Counselor since 2004. His writing and research interests include creative applications in mental health, telemental health ethical and legal issues, neuroscience influences on counseling, trauma's impact on brain development, and psychopharmacology.

Southeastern Louisiana University Counseling Department are Approved Providers of Continuing Education in Play Therapy. 6.0 Non-Contact CE Clock Hours will be awarded for attendance. APT Approved Provider # 17-494

Registration Fees:

$55 for Professionals

$40 for non-SLU Students

$40 for SLU Alumni & Site Supervisors (register under student rate; click link at top "Are you a student?")

FREE for SLU counseling students (E-mail Laura.Fazio-griffith@selu.edu for the link)